MEMO

This booklet was prepared in a rush to meet the deadline for Christmas 1998 mail. Be that as it may, it was a labor of love and familial pride, and carries with it the hope of forging family links and tightening our little family circle. Christmas is the season for nurturing such wishes and dreams.

I wish to acknowledge the help and encouragement of many family members, without which the task would have become ponderous, or worse, onerous. So, my deep thanks to Uncle R. B. Armistead for his abiding faith in my purpose, to Uncle Robert James Heidt Gonzales and his wife, Aunt Wency, for the loving and generous support towards my family research efforts, to my mother Gloria Heidt Gonzales Ramos and my father J. B. Ramos for standing by me through thick and thin, and last but not least, to my husband, Robert John Redden and our son, Sean Russell Redden, proponents of that phenomena called family ties.

For the main section of this booklet, the contents have been arranged in chronological order, from Generation "O" through to Generation 6. The designation "O" stands for origin, from Mattheu von der Heidt of Salzburg, in what is now Austria. Generation 1 represents the first Heidt on American soil, and the following generations his descendants. Family members belonging to Generation 6 are shown with their nuclear family cluster but are not given any discussion at this stage. Descriptions of key ancestors have been kept to a minimum but will be given expanded treatment in a forthcoming book. This copyrighted booklet serves as a foretaste for said forthcoming publication.

A second but shorter section of this booklet shows an outline of the descendants of Generation 1: Johann Georg Heidt. As shown, he has spawned 9 generations of Heidt descendants. I understand that a data update is needed to indicate the newcomers belonging to Generation 10.

For that matter, please bring to my attention any correction or addition to the current database. When your family gathers for the Christmas celebration, have a group photo taken and send a copy to me for inclusion in said forthcoming book. Old photos of your direct ancestors would be appreciated as well. Favorite family anecdotes will also be most welcome. Snail mail materials to: Mrs. Virginia Redden, Mail Service 223, Nobby 4360, Queensland, Australia.

I hope you find enjoyment in reading through this booklet and in touching base with our ancestors. Consider this a Christmas gift, from me to you. Have the nicest Christmas this 1998, and the best year in 1999.

Virginia R. Redden (Eldest granddaughter of
Col. James Villard Heidt)

Generation "O": Mattheu Von Der Heidt

Mattheu Von Der Heidt of Salzburg is said to be the father of Johann George Heidt I, the progenitor of the Georgia Salzburger Heids. According to family tradition, Mattheu and his family were followers of the ministry of Martin Luther. When Mattheu died, his wife remarried, and with her children and her new husband, fled from Salzburg in search of religious freedom.

The name of Mattheu Von Der Heidt's widow is not known. Her second husband went by the surname Helme, first name unknown. The number of children who were born to Mattheu Von Der Heidt and wife is not known. The number and names of their children who settled in Georgia, or elsewhere for that matter, likewise is unknown. Further investigations on these issues are underway.

What is known is that one of their sons, Johann Georg Heidt, did arrive in Georgia aboard the 8th ship bringing settlers to the little Salzburger colony in Effingham County, Georgia. The ship, Charles Town Galley, captained by Peter Bogg, was carrying the 5th Palatine transport. It arrived in Georgia on October 2, 1749. Among its 48 passengers from Palatine, including women and children, was one Georg Heidt. How Johann George Heidt happened to be in the 5th Palatine transport, and not in one of the Salzburg transports, remains to be determined.

Generation 1: Johann Georg Heidt (I)

The records show that in his early days in the transplanted Salzburger colony, Johann Georg Heidt worked as an indentured servant. This was a common method for many immigrants to pay off the balance of the transport cost across the Atlantic Ocean. By dint of hard work, it did not take him long to obtain his own land to farm and to become a respected member of the community.

Johann Georg Heidt married firstly Eleanora Kurtz, and after her death, married secondly Maria Magdalena Maurer. He married Eleanora on March 4, 1754, the union providing him with three sons, perhaps four. Eleanora died in 1769 at 39 years of age, leaving two sons, the younger only four years of age. Johann Georg Heidt remarried on February 27, 1770 to Maria Magdalena Maurer, the widow of George Schleigh. She brought a four year old son, David Schleigh, into her second marriage.

Maria Magdalena Maurer is assumed to be the daughter of (Hans) Gabriel Maurer who hailed from Radstadt in Westpreussen, now known as Austria. Gabriel Maurer arrived in Georgia with the 2nd Salzburg transport on December 28, 1734 aboard the Prince of Wales. It was the second ship to bring settlers to the Salzburger colony by the Savannah River and it was captained by George Dunbar.

Her second marriage proved to be short-lived as just before November 7, 1770, Johann Georg Heidt died making a widow yet again of Maria Magdalena Maurer. He left behind his two sons by Eleanora Kurtz, and an unborn child with Maria Magdalena Kurtz. His will provided for his two sons and his widow but made no mention of the unborn child. The posthumous birth of this child occurred on January 17, 1771. His mother gave him the Anglicized version of his father's name, John George Heidt (II).

Generation 2: John George Heidt (II)

Little is known of the life of Maria Magdalena Maurer after she was widowed a second time when she was left with the care of four young children. In any event, her son, John George Heidt II married Salome Remshardt on July 2, 1795. He was 24 years old and she was 21. Their marriage lasted 53 years, and produced eleven children consisting of six daughters and five sons. While John George Heidt II was unable to read or write, his children were apparently well educated. While the father was devoted to the Lutheran Church which still conducted its services in the German language, the children turned to other churches, mainly the Methodist Church where English was used in formal rituals.

Salome, also reported as Sarah Mary and nicknamed Sally, was the daughter of John Remshardt and Christina Schubdrein (Schuptrein). Her paternal great-grandparents were Daniel and Margaretha Remshardt (Remshard) from Langenau while her maternal great-grandparents were Daniel and Margaretha Schubdrein from Nassau- Saarbrucken (now Weiher/Weyer Lorraine). Both sets of great-grandparents arrived in Georgia October 23, 1751 with the 2nd Swabian transport. They were aboard the Antelope, the 10th ship to bring settlers to the Salzburg colony in Effingham County. Salome, at nine years of age, got lost in the woods while berry-picking. Fourteen days later, Capt. John Martin Dasher found her alive and unharmed. Her youthful adventure has become part and parcel of the family tradition and folklore.

Many of the children of George and Salome Heidt intermarried with Salzburger descendants. One of those who married outside the German community in Effingham County was their youngest son and 10th child, Emanuel Heidt.

Generation 3: Emanuel Heidt (Rev.)

Emanuel Heidt married firstly Frances Lucretia Grayson of Savannah and secondly, Rebecca L Mulden of Macon. In his first marriage, he had nine children, six of whom survived to adulthood. In his second marriage, he had at least three children, with only one reaching maturity.

By all accounts, Emanuel Heidt was involved in religious, civic, business, and political affairs in the county as well as in the state of Georgia, with considerable success in his many endeavors. He had suffered the deaths and tragedies met by many of his children, with the fatal wounding of his eldest son, James Evans Heidt as the most poignant of experiences. Young James was felled in Atlanta eleven days after joining the Civil War. His father, Emanuel Heidt, travelled to Atlanta to bring his wounded son to Macon but the son lived for only a few more days. Emanuel Heidt died at age 75, survived by few of his children - John Wesley Heidt, Daniel Gogle Heidt, Talulah Heidt and Corintha Patten Heidt.

Frances Lucretia Grayson was primarily of Scotch and English origins, and was descended from old distinguished family lines criss-crossed with royal lines. She was the only daughter of Capt. John Robinson Grayson and Frances Ann Harvey. She was not quite 16 years of age when she and Emanuel Heidt were married, and only 37 when she died of malaria. At the time of her death, her children ranged in age from three to twenty. The epitaph on her tombstone reads: "She made home happy."

It was their second son, aptly named John Wesley Heidt, who followed his father's footsteps in religious ministry with the Methodist Church.

Generation 5: Carobel Villard Heidt

Carobel V. Heidt was the eldest of the six children of Rev./Dr. John Wesley Heidt and Eliza Agnes Villard. She was musically gifted and had a fine singing voice as well as being academically outstanding. From family accounts, it was her musical talent that initially attracted the attention of Judge Andrew E. Calhoun. He was 45 years old to her 31 when they were married. The happy marriage produced four sons, two of whom had issue. Family group sheets showing the nuclear families of their sons Andrew B Calhoun and John Heidt Calhoun are hereby presented.

Generation 5: John Villard Heidt

John Villard Heidt was the second child and first son of John Wesley Heidt and Eliza Agnes Villard. His nickname was Johnnie.

The 1920 census listed John Villard Heidt as a businessman, single, and living in his mother's house in Atlanta, Georgia. In 1923, at age 54, he was wedded to Alice Edith Shearouse. The marriage produced two daughters in succession. One daughter married a Mr. Jernigan, the other a Mr. Jett. The whereabouts of these families remain unknown at present.

Generation 5: James Villard Heidt (Col.)

James Villard Heidt was the 3rd child and second of the sons born to John Wesley Heidt and Eliza Agnes Villard.

James Villard Heidt was 27 years old when his infantry unit was shipped to the Philippines to help quell the Philippine Insurrection and to end the Spanish-American War. His unit, the 6th Infantry, was based in Negros Occidental, one of the islands in the Visayans. It was there that he met, wooed, and married in the year 1900 the 16 year old Guadalupe Hechanova Benedicto, the youngest of 17 children of a family of Spanish descent. Their union produced three daughters, the first of whom died young and the next two were the twins Ramona and Mary Esther Heidt who were born on July 4, 1902. It was also on July 4, 1902 that James Villard Heidt was promoted to Captain and assigned to the 10th Infantry based in Washington. He was destined never to see his family again. His second marriage to Clara Hotze occurred in 1919, with no issue.

The military career of James Villard Heidt saw him in Cuba, Panama, the Philippines, Mexico, Europe, as well as in various military posts within the United States. He received a number of military decorations and citations.

The families of his twin daughters, Ramona and Mary Esther Heidt are shown in the following family group tables. Ramona became Mrs Jesus Pedrosa at 14 years of age while Mary Esther became the second Mrs Victorino Gonzales at age 23. Ramona had 12 children, two of whom were daughters. Mary Esther had 7 children, with three of the daughters and two of the sons surviving to adulthood.

Generation 5: Grayson Villard Heidt (Col.)

Grayson Villard Heidt was the 4th child and 3rd son of John Wesley Heidt and Agnes Eliza Villard. His military training commenced in 1891 when he matriculated at Moreland Park Military Academy of Atlanta. In 1893, he went to the West Point Preparatory School at Washington, D.C.. In June of 1895, he gained an appointment as a Cadet of the United States Military Academy, from Georgia.

From his first assignment with the 14th Cavalry to his retirement as Quartermaster, 8th Corps Area, his military career was noted for "his devotion to duty, capacity for organization, administration and troop leadership".

In 1903 at Fort Grant, Arizona, he met Grace McKinley who was visiting her brother, the late Major General James F. McKinley. Grace and her brother James McKinley, orphaned early, were raised by their uncle William McKinley, President of the United States. Grace McKinley and Grayson Villard were married in Iowa in 1906. Their happy marriage, marred only by the loss of an infant son and Grayson's bouts of illness, saw one daughter to adulthood and lasted 38 years until Grace died in 1943.

Generation 5: Gulielmus Villard Heidt (Lt. Col.)

Gulielmus V. Heidt was the fifth child and fourth son born to John Wesley Heidt and Eliza Agnes Villard. He was to have been named William but since there were too many in the family bearing that Anglo-Saxon form of the name, his mother chose the Latin version for her fourth son. The family nicknamed him Gulie.

Unlike his brothers James, Grayson, and Emanuel, Gulielmus Villard Heidt did not attend the military academy at West Point. He commenced his military career through civilian enlistment and steadily rose to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel by retirement age. He served mainly in the motor transport and artillery units of the army.

Gulielmus was a bachelor for most of his life. At the age of 80, he was joined in matrimonial bond to Edna, last name unknown. They lived in New Haven, Connecticut.

Generation 5: Emanuel Villard Heidt (Maj.)

The youngest child and fifth son of John Wesley Heidt and Eliza Agnes Villard was Emanuel V. Heidt, named in honor of his paternal grandfather, the Rev. Emanuel Heidt.

Emanuel V. Heidt graduated from West Point in 1911 and resigned from service in 1921. As an army officer, his various postings took him to many parts of the country and overseas. The most remarkable of his military exploits was his assignment to command Batallion, 31st Infantry in Siberia, in the year 1918. He was then Major of Infantry in the National Army.

Emanuel V. Heidt took for his wife, Marjorie McKinley Morse whom he met and married in San Francisco, California. Marjorie McKinley Morse was a descendant of one of the brothers of William McKinley, President of the United States. They became the parents of three daughters, losing the eldest in infancy. The family group sheets of their surviving daughters, Leila Marie Heidt and Linda McKinley Heidt are shown herein. Leila Marie Heidt was named after her paternal grandmother, Eliza Agnes Villard whose nickname was Leila.
