THE DE BOWS OF MONMOUTH AND OCEAN COUNTIES

The first of the DeBow family who came to America was Frederick deBoog or deBoogh (the name was spelled in various ways but "deBoogh" was one of the most common).

Frederick was born about 1631, probably in Amsterdam, Holland. He died in 1686 or 1687, probably in New York City where he had a home at that time. He married about 1657, probably in Albany, N. Y., Lysbeth Salomons.

Frederick was son of Hendrik deBoogh. Old records show the former frequently went by the name of Frederick Hendricksen, signifying, Frederick, son of Hendrick.

From notations in historical papers, Frederick appears to have been a captain of a small trading vessel which plied between New York City and Albany.

Church records show that his wife Salomons joined the New York Dutch Church in 1665. Eleven of Frederick's children were baptized there, the last one in 1683. Two more of his children were mentioned in his will.

Salomon (Solomon) deBoogh, son of Frederick, an ancestor of the line in which we are interested, was baptized in the New York Dutch Church in 1660. He died in 1753 and was buried in the graveyard of that church.

Solomon moved from New York City to Albany where he married Anna Bratt January 1, 1686. He returned to New York City about 1690. He was a carpenter. There were five children in his family.

Frederick deBoogh, son of Solomon deBoogh and Anna Bratt, was born Sept. 6, 1686, and baptized four days later in the Dutch Church of Albany, N. Y. He died Dec. 19, 1757 and was buried in the old Tennent Cemetery, which is near the Monmouth Battle Ground. His grave, marked by a brown stone, is on the main walk from the south side of the church.

Frederick moved with his parents from Albany to New York City about 1690. He was mentioned in 1698 as a boy who excelled in catechism examinations at the Dutch Church in New York City.

Frederick married June 8, 1712, in New York City, Johanna Van Hook, daughter of Lawrence Van Hook and Johanna Hendricks Smit (Smith) of New York City.

Lawrence Van Hook, father-in-law of Frederick deBoogh, was a merchant and lived next to Solomon deBoogh, Frederick's father, in the North Ward of New York City. Lawrence Van Hook later moved to Monmouth County, N. J., where he became a justice of the peace, an office of importance, at that time. He joined the Dutch Church of Freehold and Middletown in 1715. He died in 1724, leaving an estate large for those times, including a farm at Manalapan, and other lands.

Frederick and his wife were admitted as members of the New York Dutch Church on March 2, 1714. In the same or next year he moved to Freehold Township, Monmouth County. He bought land there in 1715. In his will dated March 10, 1756, he calls himself Frederick Deboogh of Freehold but signs his name Deboogh.

Frederick left, with exceptions, his estate to his wife for life. After her death it was to be divided equally among his children. Among his real estate holdings was a plantation of 335 acres, which was sold by his surviving executor, Matthias Mount. This was located on Manalapan River, five miles from Monmouth Court House.

Frederick had thirteen children. The first one was baptized in the New York Dutch Church in 1713. Seven were baptized in the Dutch Church of Freehold and the Old Tennent Church in the period 1715-1736. Baptismal records of five others have not been located.

Lawronce, son of Frederick Deboogh and Johanna Van Hook, was born about 1725, probably on his father's plantation of Manalapan River, not far from Englishtown. He married about 1747, Deborah Robins, apparently daughter of Moses Robins of Upper Freehold. In 1758 he was assessed for 131 acres of land in Upper Freehold Township. An old map indicates this property included the Thomas E. Gravatt farm near Clarksburg, now the Erving Eldridge and the Dora W. Gravatt farms. In 1762 he acquired 118 acres of unappropriated land, near the Paint Island Spring. Whether he lived on these or nearby properties, the writer does not know but his holdings probably influenced his son, John, to settle near that locality. He died in 1763.

Lawrence left four children; namely Mary, born 1748, William born 1750, John born 1752, James born 1755.

We have no further record of Mary.

James was a Tory. He joined the New Jersey Volunteers who were loyal to the British Crown. At the close of the Revolutionary War in 1783 he was one of a large number of Loyalists that sailed in transports to Parr Town, Nova Scotia, later New Brunswick, Canada. He settled in or near a small village, now known as the French Village, about 15 or 20 miles north of St. John. He left seven children, born during the years 1786-1797.

William Debow, son of Lawrence, was the one who probably married Amelia Cavallere of Gloucester County and lived in Deptford Township, of the County in 1829 and 1834. In the opinion of Mr. Hoyt, William was father of James DeBow, born Oct. 22, 1795. James lived near Vanhiseville. He died June 22, 1868 there and was buried in the Cassville M.E. Cemetery. He married about 1817, Elizabeth Michael. (The name Michael appears in the record of the birth of her son Richard in N. J. Vital Statistics AA204.) She was born December 17, 1799. She died July 29, 1899 and was buried beside her husband. Their children were Thomas, Richard E., Amy Ann, Rhumie, John, Samuel, Daniel and Elizabeth.

John DeBow, son of Lawrence and Deborah, was born May 14, 1752. He died October 3, 1812. He married about 1782, Sarah Borden, daughter of Richard Borden, and Hannah Tilton of Shrewsbury Township. Sarah was born April 11, 1759, and died in November 1829.

The children of John and Sarah DeBow were Thomas born 1784 died May 25, 1874; Hannah born Feb. 18, 1787 died Dec. 19, 1838; Richard born Oct. 30, 1789 died Dec. 28, 1848; John born June 9, 1794 died June 28, 1825; Lawrence born Mar. 26, 1797 died Sept. 13, 1848; Rachel born July 10, 1801 died Feb. 24, 1836. Thomas married Abigail Robins. They had a large family. Hannah married Elisha Karr. Richard married Mary Francis. They had one son, Richard, who died without issue. John married Ann. There is no record of any children. Lawrence was not married. Rachel married Abraham Jemison.

Most of the material given herein is from a paper written by William Henry Hoyt of New York City, to whom due credit should be given in case use is made of it.

If there are any errors found in this copy or if further information of interest about the DeBows is obtained or obtainable, the undersigned would like to be advised.

THE ROBINS OF COVELL'S HILL

My knowledge of our branch of the Robins family has recently been greatly extended by a copy of the record in the Bible of John Robins, an uncle of great-grandmother DeBow.

My object in writing these notes is to give some additional information regarding our forebears, and the locations of their homes.

Daniel Robins was the first settler by that name in New Jersey. He located in Woodbridge Township which comprised a large part of the present Middlesex County.

Volume XXL, N.J. Archives which records the early patents as taken from those at Perth Amboy, shows that he owned at times several town lots and other real estate in Woodbridge. He held various public offices and was a citizen of prominence.

At this point it is well to describe how the lands in the Colony were opened for settlement. As we all know after the English took possession from the Dutch of New York, which then included New Jersey, the ownership of the land in the eastern half of New Jersey passed from the Duke of York to Philipp Carteret. This did not apply as I understand, to land ~~area~~ already settled. Carteret conveyed his rights to twenty four parties, each having an equal share. These became known as the Board of Proprietors of the Eastern Division of New Jersey. In addition to being Proprietors, they were for a time the governing body of the Colony.

From time to time the share-holders were each given the privilege of making claims for a specified area of land. Some of the share-holders sold their rights entirely, or in fractional portions. Others made their claims promptly, and many of these were for large acreage as an near-by example we find that William Dockwra (written Dockerty in old papers) obtained a patent for 3000 acres. The south line of this tract ran from the Eldridge Still House to Jacob Preston's. Grandfather Mount's farm was part of this tract. Dockwra had a patent for another tract which lay north of Rocky Brook, the outlet of Perrineville Pond. The Richard Mount 1600 acre property was part of this tract.

We are interested in the Rights of the Proprietors. Grandfather DeBow owned a part of a share, as did his father. They acquired considerable property by their rights. The head office of the Proprietors was at Perth Amboy, where their meetings were held and records kept.

Daniel Robins evidently knew of the big deals going on in real estate. In 1695 he bought 500 acres lying south of Chestnut Brook, which had been patented five years earlier. The eastern corner of this tract was near the Eldridge Still House. The tract extended westerly, mostly on the north side of the Allentown road for about a mile and a half, and along both sides of the road from Stone Tavern to Eight Square School House and Sharon, from the first fork for less than a mile, I judge. I have a copy of a map of the 500 acre tract made in 1725. My copy was taken from one owned by James Schooley, a real estate agent in Allentown, who has a valuable collection of maps of early surveys.

After Daniel in our line is his son Moses. He bought a part of the original tract from his father and lived on or near the farm south of the burial ground, in our time belonging to Amos Tantum.

Following Moses in our ancestry is Joseph who died in 1780. He, evidently is the one referred to in a miscellaneous item in Hornor's "Monmouth of Ours" which states that Joseph Robbins, near Allentown was struck on the head with the forefeet of a colt and killed when docking the animal.

On Feb. 27, 1776, one Joseph Robins deeded to his son Moses a tract that included wholly or in part the Sarah Ann Frake; the Hugh Riley; and Paul Morris (west of and adjoining the Riley property) farms. On April 22, 1783 Moses sold the tract to Jacob Morris. It seems to me that this Joseph was the one referred to above and he lived on the Hugh Riley farm.

THE ROBINS OF COVELL'S HILL

We now come in our line to Joseph Jr., son of Joseph. He married Jane Hoopes. Their daughter Abigail married great-grandfather DeBow.

Joseph Jr., was one of a very large family. Richard died in Chester County, Pa., naming his brothers Joseph and Zebulon executors. I believe the latter lived in the Covell Hill section. The will was probated in 1816. One Zebulon Robins was one of the first trustees of the Robins Burial Place, but I am unable to show that he was the brother to Joseph Jr. I do not know where Joseph Jr. lived. His wife (a widow I suppose) occupied a small house on the south side of the Allentown road, near the Amos Tantum farm.

According to an account told Gertie Hornor by grandmother Gravatt, the latter went to visit her grandmother Robins, carrying a bowl which was to be returned. Grandmother accidentally dropped the bowl which broke, but having a two bit piece for pocket money she stopped at the Clarksburg store where she bought another bowl which Gertie now has. Grandmother's walk was five miles long.

Joseph's sister Meribah married Samuel Emley, one of the founders of Emley's Hill M.E. church. I think that this Samuel Emley is the one who taught grandfather DeBow how to survey, and from whose records my father copied much of the material in his field book. Daniel and Thomas Smith are descendents of Samuel and Leah. I have considerable material in reference to another brother John, who owned at one time the Amos Tantum farm at Covell's Hill. He owned two large wood lots on the Back Bone Hill. One tract was divided into lots by grandfather DeBow. It was sold at auction by his executors at Willow Tree Tavern in 1839. Our wood lot was part of another tract.

One John Robins lived near eight-square school house, but I am not sure whether he was the brother John.

Elizabeth Sexton (Aunt Betsy Davis) lived, previously to her marriage, with John Robins. Grandmother Gravatt claimed relationship with Aunt Betsey, but I never learned in what way.

The early Robins families were large. Several members settled in the vicinity of Allentown. Further information about the Robins family can be obtained from the History of Mercer County, Lewis Publishing Company, 1920.

The West twins, who have done much to perpetuate the Robins part in local history are descendents of Aaron, son of Daniel.

I have not been able to show how the John B. Robins family is related to the others. His signature shows that he used only one "B" in his name as did the others in earlier times.

The Robins that came to this section were Quakers. An Organization, a branch of the Crosswicks Friends was formed in the mid-seventeen hundreds, and was known as the Robins Meeting.

Isaac Hicks, the noted traveling Quaker, in his autobiography tells of visiting here. Shortly after 1800 the name East Branch was adopted, and in 1816 the present brick meeting house was built.

CIVIL ACTION

ORDER

THIS MATTER being opened to the Court by Lomurro, Davison, Eastman & Munoz, P.A., attorneys for the plaintiff in the above captioned matter, by Edward C. Eastman, Jr., Esq., and it appearing that the matter includes an extraordinary amount of in-state defendants, and that service of process by way of the Sheriff's Department as to each in-state defendant would be an unreasonable burden to be placed upon the plaintiff herein; and it further appearing that the interest of due process of law can be served by service of process by regular mail herein to the in-state defendants in accordance with this Order,

It is therefore on this 21st day of June, 1996 ordered as follows:

1. The plaintiff may serve a thirty-five (35) day Summons and Complaint upon the defendants who reside in the State of New Jersey by regular mail. After such publication and mailing the plaintiff must file an Affidavit of Mailing regarding same, which must set forth whether any of the envelopes were returned unserved.

2. The plaintiff will also include the defendants residing in New Jersey in a Notice to Absent Defendants, which publication will also be deemed as effective service for those defendants who do not receive the Summons and Complaint via regular mail.

2. The State of New Jersey shall not be served pursuant to Paragraph 1 of this order, but rather shall be served as it normally would according to the Rules of Court.

3. The default of the in-state defendants may be taken based upon the service of process by regular mail, or in the alternative by publication, as set forth in this Order.
