They increased this by purchase to 114 acres. The old Sayles homestead at Sayles Corners was sold to George Springer, (Uncle to Knight), who came from Rensselaer County, N. Y. Several years later Knight Springer came possessed of this old homestead; also Benjamin Sayles had a portion of the original estate, but more than forty years ago it all passed into other hands, and none of the Sayles kindred are living in that vicinity.

Ezekiel, Jr., and family, except oldest daughter, left this county in 1832, and located near Berlin Heights, Huron County (now Erie County), Ohio, and is known as West Berlin. He practiced medicine for several years, and later located in Wood County, Ohio. His wife passed away in 1843, and he went to live with his son Alfred, in Portland, Mich., until he died.

OBITUARY.

Sally Sayles Springer, surviving her late husband, Mr. Knight Springer, scarcely more than one brief year, died at her residence at Sempronius on Saturday, Meh. 21st, 1874 after a painful illness of about six weeks, a violent attack of pneumonia terminated in quick consumption, placing her beyond the reach of medical skill. Her sickness was attended with great pain and suffering, which she bore throughout with uncommon Christian fortitude, finally passing calmly, peacefully and willingly to her spiritual home. Her maiden name was Sayles, and her father Ezekiel Sayles was one of the first settlers in the town of Sempronius at what has ever since been known as Sayles Corners. Near this spot she was born Dec. 2nd, 1801, and within sight of which she had always lived until four years ago her husband sold his property there and moved to the village of Sempronius. Never blessed with children of her own, yet her home had been that of the orphan almost continually for nearly fifty years. In her early childhood she came to us as a mother, fostering and regarding us, and our little sister with a true maternal care. Her kindness of heart, and parental instruction at that tender age we have learned in after years to treasure with the most reverential gratitude. Early in life she embraced the Christian religion, and united with the Baptist church, of which she was a member at the time of her death. She will be remembered by those who knew her as a kind hearted benevolent sympathetic Christian woman. The funeral was attended at the Baptist church in Sempronius on Monday, and a discourse delivered by Rev. A. W. Coon of Scott from the following text. "If a man die shall he live again."

OBITUARY

↳Lydia Sayles Springer died in Sempronius, Meh. 6th, 1874. Mrs. Lydia Springer of Berlinville, Ohio, aged 63 years.

Again we are reminded of the uncertainties of this life in the sudden death of Mrs. Lydia Springer, which occurred at the home of her sister, Mrs. Sally Springer. Only the week before on Monday, at a moment's notice she left her home in Ohio in company with her brother, Mr. David Sayles, of Milan, Ohio, and hastened to the home and the bedside of her sick and languishing sister, whom she hardly expected to find alive on her arrival. She left her home in usual health, and arrived at her sisters on Tuesday, hoping to remain until the former should be restored to health again, but alas, on the Sunday morning following she was seriously attacked with acute pneumonia, which continued to increase in intensity in spite of the skill of her physician, until it terminated her life on Friday. Just two weeks from the day she landed from the cars in the village, she started on her return by the same, a lifeless corpse. She was mother of Dwight Springer, of Summer Hill, and cousin of L. D. Sayles, and David H. Foster.
