Dear Starr Researchers,

I must explain that the Starr found in this booklet is really on my husband's family tree...but I seem to be the one to do the researching and writing on the genealogy of our families.

In my many years of genealogy work, I have found this to be the largest group of Quakers I have researched. It has taken me into many sets of records I had never encountered before. Reading through the old Quaker records is a great experience and a very unusual view of early American history.

If you are not familiar with the Quaker Church or "Society of Friends" as they were officially called, you might get a copy of the old movie "Friendly Persuasion" with Gary Cooper. It will give you a little insight into their life and habits. The Quakers did not believe in bearing arms and refused to participate in any wars. Often these wars were in their own backyards and it was difficult to set themselves apart.

The Society of Friends also did not believe in being married by state or local officials. They did maintain their own set of records on such matters. Their code of marriage also was very strict on not marrying out of the sect. To do so, meant being expelled as a member.

Other such harsh punishments were inflicted if you were reported to be dancing in public, being too worldly in your attitude to outsiders, bearing arms for any reason, or giving help to the army of either side in a war, even if it was just giving food or blankets to hungry or cold soldiers.

I have spent many years working on this Starr family, only to find as I neared the generation of my husband's great great grandfather JOSEPH STARR, the rules appeared to be more than this line could adhere to. There were frequent mentions in the Quaker Monthly Meeting Records of them being expelled for numerous infractions; the last of which was Joseph's father AQUILLA STARR being expelled for selling Lottery Tickets!!

Much of my research was done at the Swarthmore College in Swarthmore, Pa. This is still a Quaker College and it has a marvelous library of old Meeting Records and Indexes of many old Quaker lines in America. The L.D.S. Library in Salt Lake City and most large Genealogy Libraries have some of the old Meeting Records in book form by Hinshaw.

The pedigree charts in the front of this booklet will show the direct connection to my husband, JAMES WATERFIELD and his grandmother, NORA STARR BELCHER. The rest of the booklet is group sheets of the Starr and the allied lines which inter-married with the Starrs. They were all Quakers down to the line of Joseph Starr, who moved to Illinois about 1825. The Starr Group Sheets are first in the booklet, followed by the other lines in alphabetical order. Additions and corrections to these families is welcomed. ...M.Waterfield

"BELLE STARR" - A little history...A little folklore!!

This collection of family group sheets is only the direct line down in my husbands family; covering the STARR family from the early 1600s to the mid 1950s, with the exception of the descendant chart on page 46. This chart shows the direct line from JOHN STARR [pg.2] down to SAMUEL STARR, who married Myra Bell Shirley - the famous Lady Outlaw "Belle Starr"!!

The stories and events of the Wild West in the U.S. in the mid to late 1800s were tame in comparison to the life styles of many in Oklahoma, Texas, and southern Missouri. The blending of the Indians and their famous "Trail of Tears" ...the famous Quantrills of Kansas and Missouri...the Civil War being fought by neighbor against neighbor, created perhaps the most lawless and hostile situation in our nations history. It lead to most of the most famous outlaws - the James Brothers, the Daltons, the Younger Brothers and Belle Starr and her lawless husband Sam Starr.

Just as people today love to read and pass on gossip, so it was in the 1860-1900 era. Many of these folks do not commit every crime they were blamed for - but they did their share. They all had backgrounds which led to the lifestyle they engaged in. There are many books on these bandits which give much on their early lives and why they chose certain paths. I have always had a special interest in the James boys as my Mother's gr. grandparents were married by Jesse James's father and they all attended the same Baptist Church in Mo. This connection with Belle Starr is of equal fascination.

This line of the STARR family came a long way down from the simple Quaker life in Penn. I have no idea how or why they lived and were involved with the Indian situation in Georgia. CALEB STARR married the granddaughter of the Indian 'GHIGUA'. Their son JAMES STARR was directly involved with and signed the Cherokee "Treaty of New Echota" in 1835, which led to the "Trail of Tears" from Ga. to Oklahoma. A feud developed between James and the Indians over his part in the Treaty and eventually they killed him. This appeared to be the beginning of the outlaw life of James's sons and grandsons!!

The society in which they were living fed off revenge and hate.. hate for the Indians...hate for the Whites...hate for the Confederates..hate for the Yankees. This hate festered into a lawless life for many..including the sons of James Starr. His son THOMAS STARR [who was also called 'Ta-Ko-Tos'] in Tribal records, was a huge man 7 ft. tall and spent most of his life avenging the murder of his father. His son SAMUEL STARR, who grew up in this outlaw society, was a noted cattle and horse thief and a robber. He became the third husband to Myra Bell Shirley and made her the noted "BELLE STARR". Their married lasted only 7 yrs. as Sam was shot and killed at a Christmas Eve dance in 1887 and Belle was shot in the back near their home at Younger's Bend in 1889!

An intersting piece of history to connect to such a noted old Quaker family !!
