WILLIAMSBURG

Dearest Cora & Robert —

My thro's have been much with you of late — do wish I could enjoy being with you all and the others this week-end for reunion. He had planned and hoped to come but for several reasons it just didn't work out this year. Hopefully we'll make it another time, tho', the good Lord willing!

Do hope this finds you both well — know you're busy as usual! How is your Grand material coming along? I really did enjoy the new Transactions with all the family data in it. As soon as I can get to it, I want to send you some material on my Grandfather that you can choose what you want to use on him. How I wish I might have known him —

Have been ever so busy this year trying to finish up my Pass compilation (my Grandmother Mellingham's family) which includes one branch of the Ester family, also. Am taking the last of it to the typist next Tuesday. Will be so glad to finish it up!! Don't think I care to do another one — I get so provoked with cousins who don't respond!! Did you ever

Find the dates for William Alexander Willingham?
I hope so - I've really had a time with one branch of the Ross family but after much digging on my part I have it nearly complete now. Has amazed that that branch knew so little of their family not only in past generations but even today!!

Robert, I'm enclosing some materials of yours plus some other I that Coza might like for the scrapbook. Some of these materials of yours got in with mine last year by mistake and other you loaned me - sorry about that. Also don't know if I told you we lost a Willingham cousin (daughter of Lila Willingham Erving who is still living (existing, I guess I should say - will be 97 next month!) - Carolyn Erving de Lattre died in Santa Barbara, California on Dec. 22, 1982. She was a divorcee Joan Hanes Womble (now Calder Willingham Womble and Martha Hanes Womble) was married in W. S. on May 14th, 1983 to Douglas McVea Stone of Chattanooga, Tenn. They live here in Charlotte.

On a separate sheet I have some questions for you.

They join me in love in best wishes to you two dear ones and all the rest in kin at Reunions Over that will be with you all. God bless - Devotedly,
Carmille
